HONGKONG, OCTOBER 4th, 1894.

WHATEVER other results the war between China and Japan may have it may already be regarded as having definitely put an end to the suzerainty claimed by the former over Korea and utterly destroyed her influence in the Peninsula Kingdom. That is not a result to be regretted, except in so far as it raises a difficult political problem. If Japan were allowed to retain possession of her conquest and administer Korea as a Japanese dependency all would be well. As Mr. HENRY NORMAN says in an article on the Korean question in the Chungking, "Japan, in spite of all her mistakes, stands for light and civilization; her institutions are enlightened; her laws, drawn up by European jurists, are equal to the best we know, and they are justly administered; her punishments are humane; her scientific and sociological ideas are her own. China stands for 'darkness and savagery. Her science is 'idiotic superstition, her law is barbarous, her punishments are awful, her politics are corruption, her ideals are 'isolation and stagnation. In thousands of 'villages throughout China men are tortured every day, hung up by the thumbs, forced to kneel upon chains, beaten with heavy bamboo, their ankles cracked, their limbs broken. Every week men are publicly crucified and hacked to death by the 'thousand.' How is anybody to desire the 'extension of the sway of the latter rather than that of the former, without avowing himself a partisan of savagery?' But it does not matter how what any one may desire; China has put her claims in Korea to the test of war and has been driven out of the country never to return. She may be able to guard her own territory, or ultimately to recover so much of it as the Japanese may for a time succeed in occupying, but the long-pending and difficult Korean question is now coming up for final settlement by the Powers concerned, and whatever solution it may be arrived at it is very certain that it will not be the re-establishment of Chinese ascendancy. But Russia has declared that she will not suffer the occupation of the Peninsula by any Power, the declaration being intended as a special warning to Japan. At the same time it is clear that Korea cannot, for the present at all events, stand alone and exercise an unqualified national independence. As it has been found necessary to place the administration of Korea under British control, so will it be found necessary to place the administration of Korea under British control. A joint commission representing Great Britain, Russia, and Japan, if such an arrangement were feasible, might meet the case, and that seems the only way in which the conflicting interests can be reconciled. Unless Russia would agree, as no doubt Great Britain would, to a Japanese occupation for a term of years, under suitable guarantees. But Russia is likely to insist on a peaceful solution, or will seize the opportunity to precipitate a war with England.

over the matter, while France, Germany, and the United States, are all in the same boat. The French, it is said, are not in a position to take any action, and the United States, it is said, are not in a position to take any action. The matter is now in the hands of the Powers, and it is to be hoped that they will arrive at a peaceful solution, or will seize the opportunity to precipitate a war with England.

The meeting of the Legislative Council which was to have taken place on Monday next has been postponed sine die.

The Hon. W. M. Goodman, Attorney-General, and Mrs. Goodman, were booked to leave home by P. & O. steamer on the 13th ult.

The Band of the Hongkong Regiment will play in the Public Gardens on Wednesday, 17th inst., from 9 p.m. to 11 p.m. (weather permitting).

The P. & M. steamer Peru, with mails, etc., from San Francisco, has arrived at Yokohama, and is to leave for this port via Nagasaki, on day light to-day.

The modifications were exchanged on 23rd August of the Commercial Convention signed on 1st March between England and China for the settlement of questions of frontier and trade arising out of the Chinese annexation of Upper Burma.

For the present quarter the home Treasury has fixed the rate for the issue of the Hongkong dollar at 100 to the pound, and on the China Station at 2s. This rate is fixed for regulating the payments which will be made in England in sterling.

The lesson of the Hongkong plague has not been lost on Singapore, where a general sanitary cleaning has been going on for some time past. The other day there were sixty-nine whitewashed summits between the Magistrate, and in most cases small fees were imposed.

In view of the reported decision to increase the Hongkong dollar from 100 to 110, it is to be expected that the Shanghai market will be affected. It is to be expected that the Shanghai market will be affected. It is to be expected that the Shanghai market will be affected.

The return of the London Free Press clearing House, limited, show that the contracts for the year ending 31st March 1894, amounted to 2,227,500 cwt. The cash price in August varied between 28 1/2 and 29 1/2, and contracts were registered for January next at prices between 29 1/2 and 30 1/2.

In the House of Commons on the 24th ult. Sir E. Ashmead-Bartlett asked the Under-Secretary of State for the Colonies whether Her Majesty's Government intended to increase the strength of the British garrison in Korea waters. Sir E.
